FRAUD ORDER ISSUED AGAINST A ST. LOUIS CONCERN.

THE REAL PROPERTY.

its Promoter Used the Mails in Securing sales of Stock and Sollelling Deposits He Got $2,000,000 From the Public and Loaned a Third of It to Himself. WASHINGTON, July 9 .- A fraud order against the People's United States Bank, officers and agents as such, and E. S. Lewis of St. Louis, Mo., was issued by Postmaster-General Cortelyou on July 6, to take effect to-morrow morning. The decision of the Postmaster-General was reached after a full hearing of the case by the Assistant Attorney-General for the Post Office Department. In response to a citation to show cause why a fraud order should not be issued against them the People's United States Bank and E. S. Lewis appeared before the Assistant Attorney-General for the Post Office Department on June 18, in the persons of George Shield and Shepard Barclay, attorneys, and E. S. Lewis; Frank J. Cabot and H. L. Kramer, and made answer to the charges. he evidence in the case showed that Mr Lewis used the mails as his principal agent in promoting the sale of stock and uring deposits in the bank.

The People's United States Bank was rganized to transact all of its business by the use of the mails. The plan was to receive savings deposits, carry on a certified heck system and do exclusively a mail order banking business. Mr. Lewis began he promotion of this bank in the Woman's Magazine for February, 1904, and has in all subsequent issues of the Woman's Magatine extensively advertised this bank.

Among the false and fraudulent representations and promises which the Postmaster-General found Mr. Lewis had made in the promotion of his scheme were those relative to the amount of capital stock which Mr. Lewis had subscribed and would subscribe, representations relative to the independent, strong, capable men who would compose the board of directors, representations and promises that all funds of the bank would be loaned by a committee composed of fifteen directors of the rincipal banks in St. Louis, and that the funds would not be loaned to himself or other directors.

The Postmaster-General found that in his early articles in the Woman's Mazaeine and in his other advertising literature about the bank Mr. Lewis represented that he would subscribe to the capital stock a dollar for every dollar subscribed by all others, so that he would own half of the capital stock, and that later he represented that he had pledged his entire fortune, every dollar had, and his publishing business in this banking enterprise, and that his subscriptions would exceed a million dollars. These representations were found to be false and made with intent to deceive.

The inspectors found that Mr. Lewis had not cooperated to the extent of a single dollar of his own money, although the bank had been in operation seven months, and had a paid up capital stock of $2,000,000. The inspectors found that Mr. Lewis had made an admission to that effect to Bank Examiners Cook and Nichols on April 3, 1905.

The inspectors and their office force in St. Louis made a careful checking of the subscription books, finding that on March 15, 1905, Mr. Lewis had received and held wment for shares of stock in the bank $2,289,043.61, and had accounted to the bank in an amount not exceeding $2,204,903.05. This showed that every cent of the

$2,000,000 capital stock which had been paid in was paid out of subscripton money received by Mr. Lewis from the public, and that none of his money had been invested in the enterprise. This was found to be the fact, although Mr. Lewis had stated in writing to the inspectors that $495,750 of the $500,000 paid in at the original incorporation of the bank were his personal funds. Subsequently, at the hearing before the Assistant Attorney-General, Mr. Lewis admitted that that money was received by him from the people and was not his own. Although asked to do so at the hearing, Mr. Lewis failed to produce any evidence whatever that any of his persona funds had gone into this enterprise or that he ever intended to subscribe, or was in a financial condition to subscribe for the large amount of stock which he represented he would take.

On March 15 Lewis had loaned from the bank's funds to himself and his enterprise $394,804.32, the paid in capital stock of the ank then being half a million. On March 29, when $2,000,000 capital stock had been paid in, a statement furnished by Mr. Lewis at the hearing showed that he had loaned to himself and his enterprises $907,538,83.

The University Heights Realty and Development Company, which had borrowed from the bank $346,163.20 and the stock of which to the extent of 1,277 shares Mr. Lewis sold to the bank, has assets consisting for the most part of land purchased for $200,000 as a speculation in suburban property, and upon which Mr. Lewis stated about $150,000 had been expended in improvements. Its habilities It appears further that Lewis endeavored to obtain proxies from all stockholders appointing himself to vote the stock, which proxies should remain in force for three years at least, and in case revocation was desired in that time Mr. Lewis was to have opportunity to purchase the stock. On April 8, 1905, the cashier of the bank told the inspectors that 4,381 shares of the increased capital stock had been issued and in every instance the shareholder had signed a proxy to the above effect. appears that it is the intention of the bank to increase its stock to $5,000,000 and remittances are being asked for on that

It is understood that the funds of the bank which have not been borrowed by Lewis and his enterprises, amounting to about two-thirds of the total amount remitted, are deposited in banks and will be available toward reimbursement of the stockholders, who number upward of 65,000. the intention of the officers of the Post Office Department to cooperate with the Secretary of State of Missouri in every proper way for the interests of the investors and department.

CALLS SON-IN-LAW BLACKMAILER BATTERY-WEST FARMS TRAINS WRECK IN LONG ISLAND YARD. AUTO BUMPS A COURT HOUSE. Young Man Who Married Girl Secretly in College Arrested.

Frederick W. Germann, the twenty-four year-old son of Charles P. Germann, a wealthy retired citizen of 90 Norman avenue, Brooklyn, was arrested yesterday on on a charge of blackmail, made by his fatherin-law, Dr. William C. Hallock of 465 East Fifteenth street, Flatbush, who alleged that Germann had sent him threatening letters demanding $750.

While Germann and a daughter of Dr. Hallook were at college, four years ago, they were secretly married, Germann says. They agreed not to let their secret become known until Germann was able to support his wife in the manner to which she was accustomed.

.Germann obtained a position as chemist in a large Manhattan drug house. Last spring the Hallock family learned of their daughter's marriage and took immediate steps to have it annuiled on the ground that the girl was under 17 when married. Then Germann wrote letters to his wife asking her to join him. She gave the letters to her parents and told them that she considered her marriage a girlish prank and had no intention of ever living with him. Not obtaining replies to his letters, Germann began to write threatening letters to his father-in-law. The latter paid no attention to the letters, but did not destroy A month ago, it is alleged. Germann began o demand $750 from Dr. Hallock under threats. Dr. Hallock received the last letter on Saturday. He got together all the letters and took them to Magistrate O'Reilly. who issued a warrant.

Germann was released on bail last night. He will be arraigned to-day. When Mrs. Hallock, the mother of the girl, was seen last night she would neither deny nor confirm that her daughter was married to Germann.

MRS. SHAW AIDS POOR BOY.

Rich Woman, Out With Nurse, Meets and Befriends a Cripple. Mrs. R. N. Shaw of this city, who is worth several million dollars in her own name, and who has been in ill health and under the care of a nurse at Flushing, noticed few days ago in walking on Main street in Flushing with her nurse a newsboy cripple who has suffered from a hip disease since birth. He is Joseph Pedowski,

11 years old, and he gets around with the aid of a stout cane. Mrs. Shaw bought a paper from him and began to question him about his ailment. Joseph told Mrs. Shaw that he was saving all the money he made from selling papers so that he could go to a hospital and be treated for hip disease. The boy admitted that up to date he had been able to save only a few dollars. Mrs. Shaw took his name and address and said she would see that he got proper treatment in a hospital. She told the boy to talk to his parents on the subject and find out what their desires were in regard to sending him to a hospital

"By the way, Joseph," asked Mrs. Shaw, are you fond of ice cream?" Joseph said he was. Mrs. Shaw took him into an ice cream parlor and to the proprietor she handed her card. "Give Joseph two ice cream sodas every day as long as he wants them and send the bill to me," said Mrs. Shaw.

Brighton Beach.

Henry Clifford Cromwell, a broker at 71 Broadway, stepped on a human body as he was wading into the ocean near the Parkway Baths, Brighton Beach, at 7 'clock last night. Cromwell brought the ody to shore. The police learned a few minutes later hat Joseph B. McCormick, a Princeton student, from Schuylkill, Pa., was searching for his friend, Edwin D. Hein, who had come from Princeton with him in the afternoon to spend a day at the seashore.

McCormick identified the body as that of Hein. He couldn't explain how his friend happened to be drowned. They had been in bathing together, he said and suddenly Hein disappeared. McCormick thought for a while that he had gone to the bathhouse, but when he searched for Hein there and didn't find him he became alarmed.

Hein was 22 years old, and his home was n Schuylkill Haven. The body was taken to Havron's morgue at Coney Island.

MAYER READY FOR EQUITABLE.

Has the Hendricks Testimony and Begin to Prepare Papers.

Attorney-General Mayer will begin to-day ctive preparation for the suits which he is to bring against Equitable directors to compel them to disgorge their wrongfully made profits and retire from the directorate. He has been delayed in the work by the failure of the State Insurance Department to place in his hands the testimony taken in its investigation. To-day the Attorney-General will begin in earnest the job of examining this testimony. This in itself, it is said, will be a laborious task, as twenty or twentyfive witnesses were called, some of them several times. Mr. Mayer will do the greater part of his work on the testimony at his office in this city at 27 William street, where he will have within easy reach all the witnesses in case he should desire any explanations Although Mr. Mayer's examination of the estimony will be made chiefly with a view testimony will be made chiefly with a view to obtaining ground for civil actions, he will not disregard anything which he may deem a proper matter for the criminal courts. The Attorney-General had a conference with a representative of the District Attorney on Saturday. What its purpose was Mr. Mayer refused to say yesterday, but it is understood that it has to do with the testinony which Sunt Hendricks, had the testimony which Supt. Hendricks had turned over to him.

The District Attorney's office has been waiting for a copy of the testimony for more than two weeks and, like the Attorneydeneral's office, has not been able to attempt anything definite without it. It was said last night that a copy of the testimony would probably be delivered to Mr. Jerome to-day. If it is, a conference batween the Attorney-General and Mr. Jerome will follow. It was said last night that Attorney-General Mayer would probathat Attorney-General Mayer would proba-bly know by the end of the week pretty definitely what directors he will sue, although the announcement may not be made until later. The Attorney-General spent Sunday in town, being at the Bar Association a large part of the day.

It was said vesterday that the resignation of Archibald C. Haynes as the Equitable central manager for this city would ble general manager for this city would not have any serious effect on the society's business in New York. Mr. Haynes's resignation, it was said, does not go into effect until Dec. 31.

THE SUBWAY THROUGH ROUTE OPENED THIS MORNING.

All Express Trains to Run to the Battery -Battery Station a Loop With a Sharp Curve One Side Platfor m -Bowling Green an Island Station.

will run to the Battery station to-day and make stops at Bowling Green. The first Battery-Bronx through train left West Farms at 12:01 o'clock this morning bound for the Battery. In the motorman's place was Supt. Merritt of the Interborough company and riding in the first car with him were Trainmaster Hayes and D. M. Morrison, the motor instructor of the company. Fifteen passengers got aboard at the start, but at each stop more boarded the train. At the Mott avenue station, the last before entering the tube underneath the river, 100 people were waiting to take their first ride under the Harlem River, over which they had crossed so many times.

Once in the tube the air became cooler and the passengers seemed to think that there had been a drop of at least fifteen degrees. At the 135th street station, the first this side of the river, Supt. Merritt stopped running the train and turned the care of it over to a motorman. Mr. Merritt and the other two employees of the company left the train at the 135th street station having seen that everything was running smoothly.

The first train from the Battery pulled out of the station a few minutes after midnight. This was a Broadway train. Edna Thorman, an eleven-year-old girl living at 560 East 144th street, bought the first ticket. She had induced her parents to bring her down to the Battery so that she might ride all the way home. Edna was disappointed when she learned that the first train was going up Broadway instead of Lenox avenue.

At the Bridge the Lenox avenue passengers were told to change cars and wait for a Lenox avenue train. The Lenox avenue cars run every seven minutes and all go through the Harlem tunnel. The Lenox avenue train that left the Bridge at 11:15 was the first to go through.

The two downtown stations differ in type from any previously opened. The Battery has only one side platform. The trains will round the loop, open the doors on the right and clear the cars, and will then take on passengers from the same platform. Repeaters, who are riding on the subway for the fun of it, will be able to mix with the crowd and, returning to the cars they have just left, can go uptown on the same fare. However, experience at other stations has shown that repeaters are so scarce that it is not worth while watching for them. The Bowling Green station is an "island"

like those at the other express stations. There are no side platforms at the Brooklyn Bridge and Seventy-second street and, as both express and local trains will run on the same track below the Bridge, there is no need of two islands, as at the Grand Central station. The Bowling Green station is the longest in the subway system-460 feet.

The Battery station, which is built on a curve, is 400 feet long. This curve is so sharp that there must necessarily be con-STEPS ON DROWNED MAN'S BODY. siderable space between the platform and the car door, and passengers will have to

Green station. The design consists of panels of buff and drab with a conventional flower border. The walls of the Battery station are unfinished and the workmen have not even begun on the upper layer of ornamental tiles. The design here will be rather elaborate, and will include a frieze showing the old Battery sea wall. As the contract for the division of the road below City Hall prohibits advertising, passengers will be able to see these decorations. The conditions in these two new sections of the subway last night went to indicate that it is the heat engendered by the electric trains which makes the subway so insufferably hot these days. At 10 o'clock when no regular trains had been run as yet. these stations were the coolest places in

New York. There will be two entrances and one exit at the Bowling Green station. The southern entrance will not be opened for several days, as the stairs are not finished.

COP SHOOTS PICKPOCKET.

Found Him Going Through a Stoop Sleeper in Brooklyn.

Patrolman Regan of the Hamilton avenue tation, Brooklyn, fearing that his life was n danger from an Italian whom he had discovered picking the pockets of a sleeping man, fired one shot and struck the man in the right side, causing a serious wound. Thomas Thompson of 36 Manhasset place at down on a stoop at Cole street and Hamilton avenue at 3:30 o'clock vesterday morning and half an hour later was sleeping. Francesco Ronvivo, 25 years old, of 32 Carroll street, came along and seeing the sleeping man stooped over him and was ransacking his pockets when Patrolman Regan came in sight. The Italian ran, but after a chase of several blocks turned on the officer and placed his hand on his hip pocket.

Patroiman Regan, believing the fellow was about to pull a revolver, hastily draw his own and fired one shot. The bullet struck Ronvivo in the right side. A call for an ambulance brought a surgeon from the Long Island College Hospital, who said the wound was dangerous but not fatal. The patrolman failed to find a revolver when he searched the italian.

FOUND A TRUNK TO FIT HER KEY Evangelist Who Lost Her Baggage Narrowly Misses a Hairpulling. ASBURY PARK, N. J., July 9 .- Miss Helen Gertrude Rumsay, who leads the White Shield meetings in Ocean Grove, has lost her baggage. Yesterday she saw a trunk at the depot which looked familiar, so she decided to try her key. It fitted the lock, and the lid flew open.

What the young woman saw is not dis-closed. Evidently there was something in the tray that ought not to be carried by an evangelist. At any rate, the trunk was not hers.

Another excited female, edging her way through the crowd, saw Miss Rumsay rummaging in the trunk. "What are you do-ing in my trunk?" she demanded. The ing in my trunk? she demanded. The woman was in a hairpulling mood, but finally gave way under the dulcet pleadings of the Ocean Grove girl. Miss Rumsay is still searching for her baggage.

Four Persons Hurt and the Road Tied Up for Hours.

+ NEW YORK. MONDAY. JULY 10. 1905, - Copyright, 1905, by The Sun Printing and Publishing Association.

Two engines attempting to use the same Y switch to enter the Long Island Railroad terminal at Long Island City last evening resulted in the tving up of several tracks for hours during the rush last night and the injury to four persons. Robert Ludlum, the conductor, being the most seriously hurt. The engines wrecked were 95, drawing All subway express trains and some locals the Patchogue Express, and a drill engine which was switching across the yard. The express engine reached the Y first and as it crossed the drill engine struck it.

Next to the engine was a parlor car and behind that were a baggage car and ten coaches. There were only a few persons in the parlor car. It was dragged from the rails, as was the baggage car. The passengers injured were hurt by the flying glass. They were Cornelius Leonard of 680 East 140th street and William Tuxton of 482 East 140th street, ball players, and Miss Margaret Williams of 318 East Twenty-ninth street.

Miss Williams, after being treated on the scene, went home. The young men went to St. John's Hospital, where their injuries were dressed.

Ludlum, the conductor, was on the platform of the baggage car when the crash took place.

HIS FAREWELL TO WASHINGTON. Count Cassini Comes to This City and Will Sall for Europe To-morrow.

WASHINGTON, July 9 .- Count Cassini, retiring Russian Ambassador, left Washington for New York at 11 o'clock this morning. He was accompanied to the station by his successor, Baron Rosen, and members of the Russian Embassy. Mr. Seibert, Second Secretary of the Russian Fmbassy, accompanied Count Cassini to New York, but will return to Washington after the Ambassador has sailed. Count Cassini's departure this morning marked his farewell to Washington, for he sails Tuesday for Europe, and after a brief visit to Paris goes direct to St. Petersburg for instructions before taking up his work as Ambassador at Madrid. Official leavetakings occurred last week, the last of these being on Saturday, when the Ambassador called on the Acting Secretary of State. Friends from official and social life of the capital have been calling at the embassy the past week, bidding adieu to Count . To all the retiring diplomat expressed deep regret at going. .ie has made many friend sand was popular in the society of the capital, and when Baron Rosen presents Count Cassini's letters of recall to the President on Thursday and himself takes the reins of Russia's diplomacy it will mean not only a new Ambassador but another dean of the Diplomatic Corps.

Notwithstanding stories of friction between Count Cassini and his successor, they were much in each other's company and to all appearances good feeling existed between them.

JAPAN WANTS GRISCOM TO STAY . Report That He Is to Enter the State Department Causes Regret.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN Torio, July 9.- The reported transfer of Lloyd Griscom, the American Minister here, to the State Department at Washington was published to-day and was received with regret on all sides.

No Minister since Mr. Bingham has so commanded the confidence of Japanese statesmen and commercial men. The latter would be especially affected by his transfer. the settlement of American claims of long standing without estranging the Japanese. His relations with the merchants and the Japanese are closer than those of any Minister in twenty years. Mr. Griscom has also been successful in adjusting the differences between the various sects of missionaries, and he has created an efficient American spirit. Your correspondent learns that Japanese Government, through a high official, has expressed unqualified regret at the report of Mr. Griscom's recall and the hope that the report is not true.

THREE SAVED FROM LAUNCH. Two Were Exhausted and the Third

Serious Distress. Arthur and Frederick Nutting and James B. Stiles, all of Arlington, N. J., narrowly escaped death yesterday off the Dreamland pier at Coney Island while attempting to make the beach in a disabled naphtha launch, in which they had sailed from Newark, through Newark Bay, around Staten Island and into the ocean off Norton's

James Fuller, a life guard, hurried to the rescue, taking the three young men into his boat and subsequently towing in the dis-abled launch. The men were attended by a doctor and later told the story of their trip. They left Newark early in the day, intending to spend some hours at Coney Island. launch worked well until they got off ton's Point, where she broke down and be came absolutely unmanageable. The three decided to fight their way to Coney Island and took turns at the oars. Stiles and Frederick Nutting became exhausted and the other brother was on the verge of giving up when help arrived. The rescue was witnessed by thousands.

BOYS HALT RUNAWAY.

Stop Horse as He Dashes Upon Asbury Park Boardwalk.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., July 9.—Courageous parts were played by two youngsters on the boardwalk early this evening when they stopped a runaway horse which imperiled the lives of a crowd of Sunday promenaders. The animal, attached to an empty run-about and owned by W. H. Fleischmann of New York, a summer resident of Bradley Beach, bolted on Ocean avenue. At Third avenue the wagon collided with a pole and was smashed. With the remnants dragging behind it the horse dashed across the boardwalk, the crowds fleeing for safety behind benches and bathhouses.

The animal was prevented from proceeding up the walk by the two boys, who caught him by the head and held him until the arrival of the owner. They were cheered by the crowd by the crowd.

ELECTRIC CURRENT GRIPS GIRL She Forms Circuit by Holding Telepho and Turning on Light.

MONTCLAIR, N. J., July 9. Miss Janet Wheeler of the New York and New Jersey telephone office last night while holding the transmitter on her desk turned on an electric light. Her contact with the two instruments caused the full current to pass through her body and she sat rigid at her desk, unable to release her hold or Chief Operator Clarence Loper tried to free her and received a severe shock. For five minutes Miss Wheeler was held by the current until Loper cut the wires. When released the girl was hysterical and

APPELLATE DIVISION'S MARBLE RAILING WRECKED.

William A. Moll's Machine Bucked at the Madison Avenue Corner and Twice Crashed Into the Balustrade and Sent Thirty Feet of It Into the Area.

About thirty feet of the handsome marble balustrade around the Appellate Division court house, at Twenty-fifth street and Madison avenue, was carried away by ah unruly automobile yesterday afternoon. The auto is the property of William A. Moll, an advertising agent with offices at 100 William street and a home at 1062 Bergen street, Brooklyn, Mr. Moll was driving the machine down Madison avenue. With him was his driver.

As Moll attempted to turn east into Twenty-fifth street something went amiss with the steering gear, and after whirling around the street the auto plunged on the side walk on the Twenty-fifth street side and crashing into the railing, sent the marble uprights and the heavy top slabs tumbling to the bottom of an areaway six feet below. Just twenty-two feet of the balustrade was hurled into the areaway and broken into small bits. The automobile rebounded to the street after the first collision and, despite the efforts of Moll, scooted into Madison avenue. waltzed around once more and then shot against the balustrade on that side of the building. Eight feet of the marble railing toppled over. It looked for a time as if the auto would plunge headfirst into the areaway. However, at the corner of the balustrade was a tall marble post that supported an electric light. When the auto hit this post it came to a stop long enough for Moll to shut off the engine. Mr. Moll's, driver was thrown out during one of the collisions with the corner post, but he escaped with a shaking up.

As a result of the collisions, the front of the auto was smashed. The machine is a 40 horse-power affair and Mr. Moll was taking it from a repair establishment uptown to his Brooklyn home. Among those who heard the racket was Justice Hatch, who was looking over some papers in the court house. He hurried to the street and found Policeman John H. Smith of the Tenderloin station, who was trying hard to keep the crowd back so that no one would fall into the unrailed areaway.

The policeman asked Justice Hatch if he would be justified in making an arrest. After some deliberation and much gazing at the departed balustrade, the Judge decided that the cop wouldn't be. However, at the suggestion of the Justice, the policeman led Moll to the West Thirtieth street station so that he might properly identify himself. Justice Hatch said that the automobilist might be wanted afterward. Mr. Moll was quite willing to do as the Judge said. At the station he was identified by the manager of a big automobile firm's agency in this city. Mr. Moll had his machine taken back to the repair shop and took a trolley for Brooklyn. One of the attendants in the court house told Policeman Smith that it would cost

$3,000 to repair the damage to the balustrade. LEMUEL ELY QUIGG NABBED. Automobile Squad at Stamford Found

GREENWICH, Conn., July 9 .- Dr. Frank M. Tiffany's efforts to save a party of three negroes from serious injury almost cost him and Mrs. Tiffany their lives late last night at Stamford. Returning from Glenbrook in an automobile, they met a vehicle and turned into the gutter on the right of he highway. Dr. Tiffany was driving he auto and just as he cleared the first vehicle a surrey containing two colored women and a colored man came out of the darkness directly in front of the automobile. The surrey was on the left side of Dr. Tiffany steered into the gutter, but finding he could not pass that way, he tried to throw the automobile out into the middle of the road. There was not quite room and the car and the surrey collided. The shaft of the surrey struck Mrs. Tiffany in the hip and side, making a deep wound. Dr. Tiffany was bruised and cut badly. One of the colored women was also cut and bruised and suffered from shock. The horse was killed. Mrs. Tiffany's condi-tion is critical to-night. Besides the hole made by the shaft, she suffers from numer-ous cuts and bruises and intense shock. Dr. Tiffany is also in a dangerous condition.

Both Dr. and Mrs. Tiffany are promi-inent in the social life of Stamford.

AERONAUT CANFIELD HURT. Feet Caught in Eaves of a House and He Fell Fifty Feet.

BOSTON, Mass., July 9.-William Canfield, who with his woman partner made a balloon ascent and parachute jump in Lynn last evening, was seriously injured in trying to land.

The ascent was postponed from the Fourth of July, when the balloon was burned as the ascent was about to be made. Yesterday the performers had hard hick in starting. Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. Paris, July 9.—At 9 o'clock this morning six survivors of the submarine boat Farfadet, which sunk at Sidi Abdallah, Tunis, last Thursday signaled that they were experiencing difficulty in breathing. At 10:30 o'clock they signaled that they could last only a quarter of an hour longer

The boat was then being towed along the bottom. A final attempt was made to lift her by the stern until her after hatchway was above the surface of the water. This was done and when the hatchway was out of the water it was found possible to renew the air in the after compartment through a small porthole. It was also possible to talk with the six men. When the hatch had been got about a yard out of the water the crane broke. A second attempt failed to raise the boat. From what the men said while the stern was out of the water it appears that they had never given way to the frenzy of

PRESIDENT IN WHITE AT CHURCH May See Shonts and Stevens About Canal

To-day. OYSTER BAY, July 9.-President Roosevelt and family spent a quiet Sunday at Sagamore Hill. This morning they and heir guest, Col. R. L. Ferguson of the Rough Riders, attended Christ Church and heard a sermon by Bishop Albion W. Knight, who is in charge of the Episcopal missions in Cuba. The President was clad wholly in white duck and the usual crowd of sightseers watched him enter and leave the church. There were no callers at Sagamore Hill vesterday, but it is said Theodore P. Shonts. chairman, and J. F. Stevens, chief engineer of the Panama Canal Commission, may call on the President to-morrow.

Crowd Sees Many Pets Destroyed in a Fancier's Store. ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 9.-In the pet stock store of John Fox, this afternoon, a big snake got loose, gorged itself on canar ies and other pets, which he found tooth-

The walk was blocked with people who almost wept as they saw the serpent break cages open to get at his game. An officer was called to clear the sidewalk while a mes senger was sent in search of the owner His snakeship is estimated to have dined on rareties that cost the fancier $25. The serpent was locked up in a new peoutside of the store as a precaution against another expensive raid.

MIGHT BE CRUELTY, TO ANIMALS Hot Weather Phase of the Lock 'Em Up Hungry System.

The police of the Tenderloin station raided Madison Square Park yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. Seven old women and one old man were gathered in and carted off to cells. According to the police this bunch make the park their home from the first sign of spring until the winter ousts them. Many complaints have been sent to Capt. Cottrell by residents of the neighborhood. and the most dilapidated of the regulars were taken in. Unfortunately it was after the police courts had closed for the day and the prisoners were stowed away in the hot and poorly ventilated cells of the Tenderloin station to remain for twenty-one and a half hours.

Not one of the prisoners had a nickel and no provision for feeding prisoners is made by the Police Department. They were almost famished last night and the doorman, the matron and several policemen chipped in and bought food for them.

WHEN THE PEACE ENVOYS MEET. President Expected to Return to Washington for the First Session.

WASHINGTON, July 9.-It is the official opinion that the peace plenipotentiaries of Russia and Japan will be able to organize in this city for business during the first week in August. It is assumed that the President will come over to Washington for the first meeting. After effecting an organization here the plenipotentiaries will probably embark for some point on the North Atlantic coast to be suggested by the President to hold their sessions during the hot weather.

No one familiar with such proceedings and knowing the peculiar situation presented between Russia and Japan predicts an agreement earlier than October.

It is altogether probable that at the first meeting in Washington the Senate reading room in the Congressional Library will be released at the dispressional properties.

RUSSIA GETS THE REBEL SHIP

MUTINEERS GONE, RUMANIA

TURNS OVER THE POTEMKIN. Matuschenks, Leader of the Revolt, Goes to Bucharest-Everything on the Ship in Disorder - Officers' Cabins Looted

-Two Engineers Commanded Ship. Special Cable Despatches to THE SUN. KUSTENDJE, Rumania, July 9.- The Rusian battleships Sinope and Tchesma. with Admiral Kruger aboard the latter, arrived here to-day. The Admiral announced that he had come to arrange for the transfer of the battleship Kniaz Potemkin Tayritchesky, which was abandoned here by her mutinous crew, and the transfer was effected this afternoon. Several of the mutineers assert that they surrendered the vessel to the Rumanian Government because other Russian warships did not join in the mutiny. All the sailors are convinced there will be a great change before long in the conditions in Russia that will be satisfactory to the revolutionists. Everything on board the Kniaz Potemkin is in the wildest disorder. The officers' cabins have been pillaged of everything worth taking. There are bloodstains everywhere. During the last few days the vessel was commanded by two engineers. An officer was compelled to navigate the ship with a revolver at his head. After the King of Rumania ordered the transfer of the vessel Admiral Kruger boarded her with a priest and religious services were held. An hour later the Rumanian officers formally handed her over to the Russian commander. All her sailors wished to surrender ex cept Matuschenks, the ringleader of the mutiny, who resisted for some time. He wished to blow up the ship. Several officers were found on board. They were in a pitiable condition. They declare that Matuschenks killed ten officers. The cash on board amounted to 23,000 rubles. This was shared by 650 sailors. All the papers and books belonging to the ship were destroyed. Matuschenks has gone to Bucharest. LONDON, July 10 .- A despatch to the Daily Mail from Constanza says that when the surrender of the Kniaz Potemkin was completed to the Rumanian officers the crew of torpedo boat 267, which had accompanied the mutinous battleship on all her voyages, asserted, to the astonishment of the Rumanians, that they were loval to the Czar, having only feigned to join the mutiny because of the terrorism of the crew of the Kniaz Potemkin. The Rumanians, fearing treachery, gave the crew half an hour in which to decide whether they also wished to surrender. saying that otherwise they must leave the harbor immediately. In the latter case they were warned that they would not be supplied with coal, nor would the Russian gunboat in the harbor be allowed to supply it. The crew, after a consultation, decided to return to Russia and surrender there. The boat accordingly sailed at 6 P. M., declaring it was going to Sebastopol. PILLAGING BY PEASANTS.

Landowners Appeal to the Russian Goverament for Military Guards. Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.

LONDON, July 10 .- The Odessa correspondent of the Standard says that Sunday was quiet there. Patrols are maintained

Alarming reports have been received from arious places in the governments of son, Poltava. Ekaterinoslah and Taurida Seventeen extensive farmsteads within thirty miles of Odessa have been burned and pillaged in the last ten days. The peasantry demand half the owners' lands. On Sunday peasants met the owner of from Odessa. He had obtained a company of infantry from the nearest small garrison to expel the invaders, but the soldiers fraternized with the peasants. The landowner then came to Odessa to obtain a company of military, but the Governor refused to let him have the soldiers, saying they wo 'd probable follow the example of the troops already on the estate.

A woman who owned a neighboring estate offered the peasants a third of her crops,

3,000 acres, about forty-five miles

but the offer was refused and she was shot dead. On the following day half the crops were looted. Within the last few days nearly forty applications from landowners for military assistance have reached Odessa. The garrison chiefs in other southern centers get similar appeals. Owing to the paucity of readily available troops the district Governors are asking for machine guns and for discretionary power in their employ-

The Daily Mail's St. Petersburg correspondent says events in Odessa and the Japanese landing in the Island of Sakhalin have caused peace to make considerable progress at Peterhof, where the Czar is now staying. Moreover, it is stated that the Japanese demands are not unacceptable It is reported in Government circles that the Japanese will waive the question of indemnity and will merely demand payment of all the expenses of the war by Russia taking over all the loans raised by ment against the peasantry.

Japan for war purposes. The occupation of Sakhalin has made little impression on the public here, it having been long ex-The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Telegraph is pessimistic regarding the outlook for peace. He says he is unable to affirm categorically that Gen. Linievitch and the commander of each Manchurian army are literally bombarding the Czar with reports showing that victory is about to smile on them, and beseeching at least six months more in which to fight. The Czar and his advisers have implicit con-fidence in the Generals. The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Times says that the Japanese occupation of Sakhalin was an event that had been long expected, but it none the less creates the deepest and most painful impression. It is doubtful whether any disaster that Parecie has suffered internally or externally. issia has suffered, internally or externally since the war began so patently brings home to the nation the utter hopelessness of the struggle and the incapacity of the present Government to assure the safety of the interests of the empire.

Haltered 17 Prisoners With One Rope. ORANGE. N. J., July 9.—Constable James Smith of Phillipsburg believes that the dignity of Jersey justice should be up-held at any cost. On Thursday he went to Alpha to arrest a foreigner on a trivial charge and was beaten and disarmed. Yesterday he took four deputies to Alpha and arrested seventien persons, including one woman, all charged with interfering with an officer. The constables tied the prisoners together with a long rope and marched them to Phillipsburg.
